I Claim:

- 1. A microchip comprising:
- a plurality of dies, each made by a separate fabrication process and assembled into a package with the separate die sections connected directly.
- 2. The microchip according to claim 1, wherein the separate die sections are connected by interconnects that are widened compared to the ciruits of the die.